The Senior Class of 1977 would like to dedicate this yearbook to Miss Joann Malone who has shown us continual dedication from our freshmen year in "Raisin" to this memorable sports night. Throughout the years, she has been a devoted teacher, yet more important, an understanding friend.

Old Friends/Bookends

Old Friends,
Old Friends,
Sat on their park bench
Like bookends.
A newspaper blown through the grass
Falls on the round toes
Of the high shoes
Of the Old Friends.

Old Friends,
Winter companions;
The old men
Lost in their overcoats,
Waiting for the sunset.
The sounds of the city,
Sifting through trees,
Settle like dust
On the shoulders
Of the Old Friends.

Can you imagine us
Years from today,
Sharing a park bench quietly?
How terribly strange
To be seventy.

Old Friends,
Memory brushes the same years.
Silently sharing the same fears.

Time it was,
And what a time it was,
It was ...
A time of innocence,
A time of confidences.
Long ago,
It must be...
I have a photograph
Preserve your memories;
They're all that's left you.

Amazing Grace!

Amazing grace! how sweet the sound,
that saved a wretch like me!
I once was lost, but now am found,
was blind, but now I see.

'twas grace that taught my heart to fear,
and grace my fears relieved;
how precious did that grace appear the hour I first believed!

thro' many dangers, toils and snares,
I have already come;
'tis grace hath bro't me safe thus far
and grace will laed me home.

When we've been there ten thousand years,
Bright shining as the sun,
We've no less days to sing God's praise,
Then when we first begun.

—John Newton

Though I know I'll never lose affection
For people and things that went before—
I know I'll often stop and Think about them
In my life, I've loved them all.

Eileen

Sole yet not lonely

armed I stand against the flow of evil and uncertainty.
My path lies before me;
my purpose, my direction, myself,
clear but to me and my God.

I expect to pass this way but once;
any good therefore that I can do, or and kindness that I can show to any fellow creature, let me do it now.
Let me not defer or neglect it,
for I shall not pass this way again.

Seems like I've always been looking for some other place to get it together where with a few friends I could give up the race and maybe find something better. But all my fine dreams well thought out schemes to gain the motherland, that all eventually comes down to waiting for everyman.

Waiting here for everyman, make it on your own, make it if you think you can. If you see somewhere to go I'll understand. I'm not trying to tell you that I've seen the plan. Trying to walk away if you think I am, but don't think too badly of one who's left holding sand. . . It's just another dreamer dreaming about everyman.

What Is A Friend

What is a friend? I will tell you. It is a person with whom you dare to be yourself. Your soul can be naked with him. He seems to ask of you to put on nothing, only to be what you are. He does not want you to be better or worse. When you are with him, you feel as a prisoner feels who has been declared innocent. You do not have to be on your guard. You can say what you think, so long as it is genuinely you. He understands those contradictions in your nature that lead others to misjudge you. With him, you breath freely. You can arrow your little vanities and envies and hates and vicious sparks, your meanness and absurdities and, in opening them up to him, they are lost, dissolved on the white ocean of his loyalty. He understands. You do not have to be careful. You can abuse him, neglect him, tolerate him. Best of all, you can keep still with him. It makes no matter. He likes you—he is like fire that purges to the bone. He understands. He understands. You can weep with him, sin with him, laugh with him, pray with him. Through it all—and underneath—he sees, knows and loves you. A friend? What is a friend? Just one, I repeat, with whom you dare to be yourself.

Just sittin' here and thinkin'. Friend,
And wonderin' how twould be,
If I had not known You at all
And you had not met me.

All things we've shared would then be lost,
The smiles and heartaches, too . . .
The World would be a dreary place
If I had not known you.

But these fond memories through the years,
All the fun times too,
Just make me thankful you know me
And glad that I know you.

The lights begin to twinkle from the rocks:
The long day wanes: the slow moon climbs: the deep Moans round with many voices. Come, my friends,
'Tis not too late to seek a newer world.

Push off, and sitting well in order smite
The sounding furrows; for my purpose holds
To sail beyond the sunset, and the baths
Of all the western stars, until I die.

The Academic Council serves in an advisory capacity to face matters such as student privileges and specific problems concerning student-teacher relationships. The council is made up of six representatives, one from each class. The chairperson of the Academic Council is the Senior Vice-President. This year the head of the Council was Maura O'Shea. The faculty advisor was Jeremiah Downing. The Council, this year, has initiated an honor roll in the school and has formed a National Honor Society.

Front: P. Cook, M. Andretta, L. A. Helmus; Back: F. Cafiero, L. Norris, L. Satalino

The Apostolic Council holds the responsibility of setting up masses, retreats, and other religious programs. Many of the masses in the past year have been folk masses. The Council decided upon having folk masses because it felt this type of masses would unify the school community. The chairperson of the Apostolic Council was Linda Norris, and the two faculty advisors were Miss Suzanne Moravus and Mr. Robert Lopez.

Front: Joanna Carlino; Sharen Simunek (Chairman); Donna McElwain Back: Andrea Appell; James Quinn; Theresa Cordo

Social Council

-The Social Council-

The Social Council consists of a Chairman, elected by the Junior Class, and a representative from each class. This council is responsible for the highschool mixers and dances, and serving the refreshments after any social event that occurs during the school year. This year the Social Council has held two mixers, a Christmas Dance, an eighth grade party, an exchange dance with West Point, and served refreshments after several of the school functions.

The Athletic Council

The creation of the Athletic Council was done fully by students. The idea itself, the development of the functions and the amending of the existing Student Government Constitution was through the endeavors of the Social Council.

The newest of the four councils, it has been designed as a service organization aiding the Athletic Program. The council is starting the following functions: Assisting in the planning and running of school sponsored athletic events; maintenance and repair of athletic equipment; and the serving of refreshments at athletic contests. The Athletic Council will be in full operation by next year.

VOCAL ENSEMBLE: The Holy Child Vocal Ensemble has demonstrated what a finely trained, motivated group of students can achieve. Under the fine direction of Mrs. Yvonne Parente, the Ensemble meets twice a week and performs in all school concerts and liturgies.

The Ensemble aims to develop the voice as well as musical talents of the students, and is open to all who like to sing and who are willing to work. Now, in its third year, the Ensemble continues to try to serve and contribute to the Holy Child community, and has become increasingly successful.

LIBRARY AIDES: The use of student assistants in the school library originated in the need for help in extending library service; it has continued because the students themselves find satisfaction in the service they render. In our school library, aides are trained to perform a variety of tasks. Working in the library gives students an opportunity to broaden their personal experiences; the students who work in the library are there because they want to be there.

SERVICE CLUB: The Service Club has been organized to provide an opportunity for all students, especially the underclassmen who are not eligible to enroll in the elective service course, to volunteer their time to a worthy cause. The members of the Service Club perform various types of service ranging from helping a teacher to performing clerical skills.

NEWSPAPER: The old Westbury Log is the official student newspaper written and produced by the students in Holy Child. The school newspaper was started 3 years ago and has steadily increased in size and quality. The OWL creates a special interest in Holy Child among students by keeping the school community informed of past, present, and future activities. The OWL contains many different columns: Sports, class news, current events, puzzles and games, horoscopes, and creative writing; and a new column called Gretta's Gossip which has created a new spirit in the school. The editor of the OWL is Maura O'Shea, and the faculty moderator is Mrs. Tane—without whose help and advice the OWL would not have obtained its present high standard.

YEARBOOK: A yearbook is a record of events and experiences shared by friends during the school year. The staff is made up of different elected representatives from each grade—a photography editor, a lay-out editor, a business editor, and an editor-in-chief. Throughout the year, the yearbook staff works on developing new ideas for the yearbook. This year, the staff has formed a literary staff which organizes all literary material. The yearbook's moderator is Mrs. Kirwan.

The Student Council

To the Class of '77

Go placidly amid the noise and the haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence. As far as possible, without surrender, be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly and clearly, and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant, they too, have their story. Avoid loud and aggressive persons, they are vexatious to the spirit. If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain or bitter, for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans. Keep interested in your career, however humble, it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs, for the whole world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals, and everywhere life is full of heroism. Be yourself. Especially do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love, for in the face of all aridity and disenchantment, it is as perennial as the grass. Take kindly to the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the fortunes of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with dark imaginings. Many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness. Beyond a wholesome discipline be gentle to yourself. You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding like it should. Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be. And whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life, keep peace in your soul. With all its shame, drudgery, and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. Be cheerful. Strive to be happy.

Through each new year we have grown a little more and have become insecure a little less.

From each new friend we gained an insight into ourselves to allow ourselves to give a little more to others.

With each new encounter we found something within ourselves to make us aware and a little less self-centered.

To each new situation we put in a little more, but in return receive a little more.

In each change comes a promise of pleasing yourself so that you can begin to share that pleasure with others.

With each new day we can see a little clearer and know that the end is coming nearer.

The change of high school is complete our obligation has been fulfilled.

We await the world holding on to all we have gained through high school.

and knowing that the best is yet to come.

Dear Embarrassed, Hope you have a nice summer.
Oh! You got lucky with those pictures you got of me!
